

LEE COURT HOUSE IN FREE OF DEBT

LAST PENNY OWED WAS PAID OFF TODAY BY COUNTY
TREASURER VAUGHAN

BUILDING IS CREDIT TO COUNTY

Magnificent Edifice, Which Was Built in 1901, is One of Most Beautiful in the State.

Today was a red letter day for the tax payers of Lee county, for when County Treasurer Frank C. Vaughan gave to A. P. Armington, cashier of the Dixon National bank, a check for $10,175, he paid the last bit of Lee county's indebtedness on the court house, and the handsome edifice on the hill, which has been a pride of every citizen of the county for the past eleven years, is now clear and the property of the county.

The last bonds, which were held by the N. W. Harris Co. of Chicago, were for $10,000 and were for the final block of nine sets of bonds, each set of which were for $10,000. Naturally everyone in the county clerk's and county treasurer's offices feels a great deal of pride in being a party to the transaction which liquidated the last of the county's heavy indebtedness.

Built in 1901.

The court house building, which is acknowledged as being one of the finest in the smaller counties of the state, was built in 1901 at a cost of $90,000. W. J. McAlpine of this city being the contractor. Chas. E. Brush was the architect and the following members of the board of supervisors were the building committee: E. W. Smith, Chairman; W. W. Gilmore, M. A. Crawford, Hugh McGuirk, M. A. Gilton, Thomas L. Phillips and George W. Smith.

GOOD SERVICE.

In a letter renewing her subscription to the Telegraph, Mrs. Cora M. Ford of Munden, Kas., says: "The farmers have finished replanting the corn after the bad rains and there is a good prospect for fruit this year. I am so glad to say that we have received the paper very promptly since we have lived here. Last year we missed but two numbers, as well as the year before. We think that is saying a good deal considering the distance it travels. We always look forward with pleasure when it is time for the Telegraph to arrive."

KENYON CHARGES SOCIAL LOBBYING

Iowan Testifies President Is Justified in Every Word
He Uttered.

BRINGS IN NAME OF HINES

Hughes, La Follette and James Favor
Registration of All Special Representatives in Washington—Sixty Subpoenas Are Issued.

Washington, June 4.—"Social lobbying" in Washington justifies every word that President Wilson uttered in regard to the presence of an "insidious" lobby at the capital, Senator Kenyon of Iowa declared on the witness stand before the senate investigating committee. It was the first unequivocal statement in support of the president's attitude since the inquiry began.

The Iowa senator explained that he believed the most "insidious" and powerful lobbying possible was the practice of flattering senators by having them out to dinners, to theaters and on automobile rides, ingratiating the host with the distinguished guests.

Gives Hines as Example.

Pointing to the sworn testimony of Edward Hines, "a lumber king," before the Lorimer election investigation committee that he entertained senators at a local hotel at dinners at a time when the lumber schedule in the Payne-Aldrich bill was before the senate, Senator Kenyon declared that it was his belief that senators were being entertained in this "insidious" way at present.

He also denounced ex-senators for capitalizing their privilege of the floor by using it to lobby. Referring to one ex-senator representing many railroads in Washington and often seen on the floor of the senate, he advocated the enactment of legislation to prohibit an ex-senator from being a lobbyist.

Would Register Lobbyists.

Senator Hughes of New Jersey and Senator James of Kentucky told the investigators for the first time of the trials and tribulations of majority members of the finance committee with the many persons who had flocked to Washington to present their views.

Neither knew of any attempt to corrupt senators, but both suggested they could have done better work if they had been bothered less. These senators, as did Senator La Follette, who followed them on the stand, suggested that legislation for the registration of lobbyists would be a good thing.

Several senators let it be known that they had received by registered mail what purported to be a reproduction of a letter from the American Cane Growers' Association of the United States sent to members asking for contributions to a fund for the use of "a large committee in Washington."

Sixty Subpoenas Issued.

Subpoenas were issued under the direction of the senate committee for 60 witnesses, most of whom are expected to testify as to the operations of a sugar lobby. It is supposed that the president supplied most of these names.

Among those who were subpoenaed as witnesses are Henry G. Oxnard, who is identified prominently with the beet sugar industry; Frank C. Lowry, who is secretary of the Wholesale Grocers' association, and Truman G. Palmer and practically everybody who has been actively connected with the headquarters of the association known as the Domestic Sugar Producers' association.

Epsoms Downs Race Track, London June 4 — Special to Telegraph — While King George's horse Anmer was rounding Tattenhall Corner in the Derby race here today a woman dashed out from the crowd and seized the reins of the horse. Jockey Jones, who was riding Anmer, was thrown and the woman was killed when the animal fell upon her and crushed her. The jockey was badly injured. It was generally believed that the affair was a suffragette outrage.

Aboveyur was awarded the race. Craganour, who won, was disqualified for bumping.

THREE BIG BANDS HERE ON THE 4TH

DIXON MARINE, MORRISON AND WEST BROOKLYN CORNET BANDS.

TO BE BIGGEST DAY IN HISTORY

Dixon's Fourth Will Be a Same One, But Oh, What a Big One—Everybody's Going Home Late and Happy.

Charles Miller, chairman of the young men's committee appointed in charge of the Fourth of July celebration in Dixon this year, announced today that he had secured the services of three of the best bands in the state, namely, the Dixon Marine band, the Morrison band and West Brooklyn Cornet band, to come to Dixon and spend all day and evening in this city, playing all the time, with stops only for breath now and then. Dixon will not lack music on the Fourth, and that is one of the big things of the day, plenty of stirring, rousing band music that keeps your feet moving and your face smiling.

The Fourth of July this year is going to be one of the biggest, if not the very biggest, day that Dixon has ever experienced, and the committee in charge of affairs has set out to show every single one of the many thousand visitors who will come to Dixon on the Fourth the best day they ever had, and to prove to them that Dixon is a good place to come back to.

Other details of the program, in fact the big ones, will be announced within a few days. Watch for them.

GRAND EXALTED RULER OF ELKS TO BE HERE

THOMAS B. MILLS WILL DED-ICATE BEAUTIFUL CLUB HOUSE
JUNE 13TH.

The official dedication of the new home of Dixon Lodge No. 779, B. P. O. E., will take place Friday evening, June 13, at 8 o'clock, and the occasion will be especially noteworthy inasmuch as Grand Exalted Ruler Thomas B. Mills, head of all the Elks, will be present and will dedicate the building as an Elks' home.

The local lodge feels highly gratified because of their success in securing Mr. Mills, who was elected Grand Exalted ruler at Oregon last July, to take charge of the dedicatory exercises, and it is also expected that he will bring with him a number of other grand lodge officers for the occasion.

It is customary to wait for several months after the completion and occupation of a building before its dedication by the grand lodge, but it is not often that the Grand Exalted Ruler can be secured for cities the size of Dixon. Mr. Mills is collector of customs at Superior, Wis., and is one of the most prominent men in Elksdom irrespective of his position as Exalted Ruler.

It is planned to have a big banquet following the dedicatory services and a program of toasts and music will be given, the details of which will be published later.

FINDS CURE FOR CANCER

German Physician Announces the Discovery of Curative and Immunitative Vaccine.

Berlin, June 4.—Dr. Otto Schmidt laid claim to having found a vaccine for the cure of cancer in a statement made before the General Medical society, in session at Cologne. He declared he had proved that cancer infections were caused by a parasite, which was his own discovery, and that moreover he had found a curative and immunitive vaccine.

Doctor Schmidt asked that a commission be appointed to test his claims.

Wilson Congratulates King.

London, June 4.—Among the numerous congratulatory telegrams received by King George V. on the occasion of the forty-eighth anniversary of his birth was one from President Woodrow Wilson.

ALL BOATS SHOULD CARRY GOOD LIGHTS

LACK OF LIGHTS ON THE MOTOR BOATS WILL CAUSE A FATAL ACCIDENT HERE.

Carelessness on the part of many launch owners regarding the legal requirements that all motor boats carry lighted lamps after dark, has caused a general protest from owners of row boats and canoes, and unless the dangerous practice of running the power boats without lights is stopped the matter will be brought to the attention of the proper authorities.

The operation of an unlighted power boat on a river so thickly inhabited by small craft as Rock river is the height of criminal carelessness, and one or two good prosecutions under the federal laws would probably do much to stop the practice.

BROTHER OF MRS. WILL LEE IS DEAD

HORACE HUTCHINSON PASSED

STARS MAY PLAY STERLING SUNDAY

INTEREST IN NATIONAL GAME IS LACKING HERE—TEAM LOSES MONEY.

Inasmuch as they lost money in their last three games with the two Rockford and Kewanee teams, the management of the Dixon Stars is at a loss to know what action to take to interest the fans. In an effort to revive interest in the sport an effort is being made to secure the Sterling West Ends for a game Sunday, and if the arrangements can be made for that game it should be of interest. The teams have met twice this year and each team has won one, so the play-off, if it can be arranged, should draw a big crowd.

BUILDING PROGRESSES.

An error was made in the regular ad. of the Family theatre in Mondays paper. The admission was printed 5 cents, but should have read 10 cents.

CATHOLIC STUDENTS WILL NOT BE PRESENT

FATHER FOLEY ASKS CATHOLIC GRADUATES NOT TO AT-TEND EXERCISES.

PROTESTS TO BOARD PRESIDENT

Against Invocation and Benediction —Says They Are Contrary to Law.

In an interview with a Telegraph representative late this afternoon Father Michael Foley, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church, requested that the announcement be made that the twelve Catholic members of the graduating class had been instructed by him to remain away from the commencement exercises of the class at the Dixon opera house this evening.

In making his announcement Father Foley stated that he was taking the action advisedly, and because the program for the exercises as arranged provides for an invocation and benediction, which the reverend gentleman maintains is contrary to law and the rulings of the supreme court.

The pastor stated that he had gone to Dr. E. B. Owens, president of the board, and protested against the two features which he claims have no place in exercises of this kind, but that he met with no satisfactory answer and had therefore asked the Catholic members of the class to refuse to attend the exercises.

Monahan, Devine, Buckley, Schrock, Harold Woodyatt, Rick Riley, Brookner and Ryan.

Several matters of importance will come up. All members of the association who are interested will be welcomed at the meeting.

RICH MAN HELD AS SLAYER

Charges Are Brought Against Piano
Manufacturer of Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, June 4.—Placed under $1,000 bail by United States Commissioner Craig on a charge of violating the Mann white slave act, Julius Wellner, millionaire manufacturer of pianos, is threatened with still further charges by Minnie Hahn, a woman in Richmond, Va., to whom he is accused of sending girls for immoral purposes, unless he sends her money for legal expenses in a case there. The Hahn woman, court records show, frequently has been arrested on charges of conducting a disorderly house here, and in each case it has been Wellner who furnished bail for her. The house she maintained is owned by Wellner, and the Hahn woman holds receipts for rent paid him amounting to more than $2,200.

HUNGARIAN CABINET TO QUIT

Ministry Displeased With Result of Premier's Suit Against Deputy.

Budapest, June 4.—The Hungarian cabinet, of which Dr. Ladislaus Von Lukacs is premier, has decided to resign. This determination is due to the acquittal of Deputy Desacs in a libel suit brought against him by the premier, whom M. Desacs accused of corruption and characterized as "the world's greatest Panamist"—a Panamist being one of the persons involved in the corrupt transactions by which the Panama Canal company (1879-93) obtained political or financial assistance.

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with
Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:
100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with phosphate powder:
68 1/4 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:
67 3/4 Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

LIKES SUGGESTION.

Editor Telegraph:
Of your article in last evening's issue headed "Excursion to Washington" for applicants for the postmaster-ship, would say that is just what I expect to do, and not wishing to take any undue advantage of my competitors, would suggest that we all go together.
Yours very truly,
THOMAS EUSTACE.

HAIR CAME OUT BY HANDFULS

Terrible Itching. Began with Rash. Dandruff Literally Covered Scalp. Entirely Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment Within One Month.

3002 Cass St., St. Louis, Mo.—"For five years I suffered with itching of my body and scalp. My trouble began with a rash on my lower limbs which was very annoying and my scalp was literally covered with dandruff. My hair used to come out by the handfuls and the itching of my body and scalp was terrible. I had used almost all the skin remedies on the market with no results, when I wrote for a little Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it gave me instant relief. Within one month's use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I was entirely cured. I cannot discover one strand of my hair coming out and I have not lost a minute of sleep since using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which entirely cured me of itching of my body and scalp in its worst form. I also find the Cuticura Soap a benefit in shaving." (Signed) Charles Judith, Dec. 8, 1911.

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands, itching, burning palms, shapless nails and painful finger-ends, a one-night Cuticura treatment works wonders. DEMENTTOWN ...DOINGS

Well, we're getting some brick streets anyway, whether the auto fire truck comes along or not.

And incidentally we notice that the fellow who keeps plugging along is never the one who has to worry much.

Adam had some advantages anyway. He never got a tailor's bill, and his wife never indulged in a passion for fine millinery.

There's no use to get sore at the fellow who wears a green hat with a little bow in the back. Possibly his parents didn't teach him any better when he was young.

In Rockford

Jim Murphy had been accused of selling liquor illicitly, and the prosecuting attorney was endeavoring to make Pat, a teamster, admit that he had delivered liquor to the defendant. He stated that he had once delivered freight to Murphy and that part of the freight was in a barrel, but when asked what the barrel contained he replied that he didn't know. "Don't know! Wasn't that barrel marked?" asked the attorney.

"Yes, sir."

"Then how dare you tell the court that you don't know what was in it?" "Because sir, the barrel was marked 'Jim Murphy' on one end and 'Bourbon whiskey' on the other. How did I know which was in it?"

He had meant to see Doris first, but his mind had changed. If all passed off well between himself and Oswald, if he found his brother responsive and wide-awake to the interests and necessities of the hour, he might forego his interview with her till he felt better prepared to meet it. For call it cowardice or simply a reasonable precaution, any delay seemed preferable to him in his present mood of discouragement, to that final casting of the die upon which hung so many and such tremendous issues. It was the first moment of real halt in his whole tumultuous life! Never, as daring experimentalist or agitator, had he shrunk from danger seen or unseen or from threat uttered or unuttered, as he shrank from this young girl's no; and something of the dread he had felt lest he should encounter her unaware in the hall and so be led on to speak when his own judgment bade him be silent, darkened his features as he entered his brother's presence.

But Oswald was sunk in a bitter revery of his own, and took no heed of these signs of depression. In the reaction following these days of great excitement, the past had reasserted itself, and all was gloom in his once generous soul. This, Orlando had time to perceive, quick as the change came when his brother really realized who his visitor was. The glad "Orlando!" and the forced smile did not deceive him, and his voice quavered a trifle as he held out his packet with the words:

"I have come to show you what the world says of my invention. We will soon be great men," he emphasized, as Oswald opened the letters. "Money has been offered me and—read! read!" he urged, with an unconscious dictator's eagerness as Oswald paused in his task. "See what the fates have prepared for us; for you shall share all my honors, as you will from this day share my work and enter into all my experiments. Cannot you enthuse a little bit over it? Doesn't the prospect contain any allurements for you? Would you rather stay locked up in this petty town?"

"Yes; or—die. Don't look like that, Orlando. It was a cowardly speech and I ask your pardon. I'm hardly fit to talk today. Edith—"

Orlando frowned. "Not that name!" he harshly interrupted. "You must not hamper your life with useless memories. That dream of yours may be sacred, but it belongs to the past, and a great reality confronts you. When you have fully recovered your health, your own manhood will rebel at a weakness unworthy one of our name. Rouse yourself, Oswald. Take account of our prospects. Give me your hand and say: 'Life holds something for me yet. I have a brother who needs me if I do not need him. Together, we can prove ourselves invincible and wrench fame and fortune from the world.'"

But the hand he reached for did not rise at his command, though Oswald started erect and faced him with manly earnestness.

"I should have to think long and deeply," he said, "before I took upon myself responsibilities like these. I am broken in mind and heart, Orlando, and must remain so till God mercifully delivers me. I should be a poor assistant to you—a drag, rather than a help. Deeply as I deplore it, hard as it may be for one of your temperament to understand so complete an overthrow, I yet must acknowledge my condition and pray you not to count upon me in any plans you may form. I know how this looks—I know that as your brother and truest admirer, I should respond, and respond strongly, to such overtures as these, but the motive for achievement is gone. She was my all; and while I might work, it would be mechanically. The lift, the elevating thought is gone."

Orlando stood a moment studying his brother's face; then he turned shortly about and walked the length of the room. When he came back, he took up his stand again directly before Oswald, and asked, with a new note in his voice:

"Did you love Edith Challoner so much at that?"

A glance from Oswald's eye, sadder than any tear.

"So that you cannot be reconciled?"

A gesture. Oswald's words were always few.

Orlando's frown deepened.

"Such grief I partly understand," said he. "But time will cure it. Some day another lovely face—"

"We'll not talk of that, Orlando."

"No, we'll not talk of that," acquiesced the inventor, walking away again, this time to the window. "For you there's but one woman—and she's a memory."

"Killed!" broke from his brother's lips. "Slain by her own hand under an impulse of wildness and terror! Can I ever forget that? Do not expect it, Orlando."

"Then you do blame me?" Orlando turned and was looking full at Oswald.

"I blame your unreasonable and your overbearing pride."

Orlando stood a moment, then moved towards the door. The heaviness of his step smote upon Oswald's ear and caused him to exclaim:

"Forgive me, Orlando." But the other cut him short with an imperative: "Thanks for your candor! If her spirit is destined to stand like an immovable shadow between you and me, you do right to warn me. But this interview must end all allusion to the subject. I will seek and find another man to share my fortunes! (as he said this he approached suddenly, and took his papers from the other's hand) or—"

Here he hastily retraced his steps to the door which he softly opened.

"Or," he repeated—but though Oswald listened for the rest, it did not come. While he waited, the other had given him one deeply concentrated look and passed out.

No heartfelt understanding was possible between these two men.

Crossing the hall, Orlando knocked at the door of Doris' little sitting-room.

No answer, yet she was there. He knew it in every throbbing fiber of his body. She was there and quite aware of his presence; of this he felt sure; yet she did not bid him enter. Should he knock again? Never! but he would not quit the threshold, not if she kept him waiting there for hours. Perhaps she realized this. Perhaps she had meant to open the door to him from the very first, who can tell? What avails it that she did ultimately open it, and he, meeting her soft eye, wished from his very heart that his impulse had led him another way, even if that way had been to the edge of the precipice—and over.

For the face he looked upon was serene, and there was no serenity in him; rather a confusion of unloosed passions fearful of barrier and yearning tumultuously for freedom. But, whatever his revolt, the secret revolt which makes no show in look or movement, he kept his ground and forced a smile of greeting. If her face was quiet, it was also lovely—too lovely, he felt, for a man to leave it, whatever might come of his lingering.

Nothing in all his life had ever affected him like it. For him there was no other woman in the past, the present or the future, and realizing this—taking in to the full what her affection and her trust might be to him in those fateful days to come, he so dreaded a rebuff—he, who had been the courted of women and the admired of men ever since he could remember—that he failed to respond to her welcome and the simple congratulations she felt forced to repeat. He could neither speak the commonplace, nor listen to it. This was his crucial hour. He must find support here, or yield hopelessly to the maelstrom in whose whirl he was caught.

She saw his excitement and faltered back a step—a move which she regretted the next minute, for he took advantage of it to enter and close behind him the door which she would never have shut of her own accord. Then he spoke, abruptly, passionately, but in those golden tones which no emotion could render other than alluring:

"I am an unhappy man, Miss Scott. I see that my presence here is not welcome, yet am sure that it would be so if it were not for a prejudice which your generous nature should be the first to cast aside, in face of the outspoken confidence of my brother Oswald. Doris, little Doris, I love you. I have loved you from the moment of our first meeting. Not to many men is it given to find his heart so late, and when he does, it is for his whole life; no second passion can follow it. I know that you are not prepared to hear such words from me and that it might be wiser for me to withhold them, but I must leave Derby soon, and I cannot go until I know whether there is the least hope that you will yet lend a light to my career or whether that career must burn itself to ashes at your feet. Oswald—nay, hear me out—Oswald lives in his memories; but I must have an active hope—a tangible expectation—if I am to be the man I was meant to be. Will you, then, coldly dismiss me, or will you let my whole future life prove to you the innocence of my past? I will not hasten anything; all I ask is some indulgence. Time will do the rest."

"Impossible," she murmured. But that was a word for which he had no ear. He saw that she was moved, unexpectedly so; that while her eyes wandered restlessly at times towards the door, they ever came back in a flash, to him, not to the door, but to his face, emboldening him so that he ventured at last to add:

"Doris, little Doris, I will teach you a marvellous lesson, if you will only turn your dainty eye my way. Love such as mine carries infinite treasure with it. Will you have that treasure heaped, piled before your feet? Your lips say no, but your eyes—the truest eyes I ever saw—whisper a different language. The day will come when you will find your joy in the breast of him you are now afraid to trust." And not waiting for disclaimer or even a glance of reproach from the eyes he had so wilfully misread, he withdrew with a movement as abrupt as that with which he had entered.

Why, then, with the memory of this exultant hour to fend off all shadows, did the midnight find him in his solitary hangar in the moonlit woods, a deeply desponding figure again. Beside him swung the huge machine which represented a life of power and luxury; but he no longer saw it. It called to him with many a creak and quiet snap—sounds to start his blood and fire his eye a week—nay, a day ago. But he was deaf to this music now; the call went unheeded; the future had no further meaning for him, nor did he know or think whether he sat in light or in darkness; whether the woods were silent about him, or panting with life and sound. His demon had gripped him again and the final battle was on. There would never be another. Mighty as he felt himself to be, there were limits even to his capacity for endurance. He could sustain no further conflict. How then would it end? He never had a doubt himself! Yet he sat there.

Around him in the forest, the night owls screeched and innumerable small things without a name, skurried from fair to fair.

He heard them not.

Don't Admit Light-Decayed Beer Into Your House

You must drink beer not only made pure, but kept pure.

Purity exceeds all other costs in our brewery. We even filter the air in which Schlitz is cooled. We scald every tub, keg and barrel, every pipe and pump, every time we use it.

Then, instead of putting pure beer in light glass bottles we use Brown Bottles.

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives the best protection against light. The Brown Bottle protects Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

We began in a hut, sixty years ago. Today our agencies dot the earth. Our output exceeds a million barrels a year. More and more people each year are drinking Schlitz.

Why don't you, too, drink only pure beer—Schlitz in Brown Bottles.

FACTS ABOUT THE CEMENT INDUSTRY

IS NOW ONE OF THE GREATEST MANUFACTURES OF THIS COUNTRY.

FOREIGN TRADE QUESTION

Product So Largely Turned Out at Local Plant Now a Commodity in General Use.

Of the manufacturing industries based on mineral raw materials one of the most important is the production of Portland cement. This is due not so much to the direct commercial value of the finished product, though the output of Portland cement in the United States is now worth some 60 or 70 million dollars a year, as to the way in which the product enters into general industry. Practically all our great engineering works are composed of large part at least, of cement; many of the larger buildings everywhere are built of reinforced concrete; while in smaller individual lots, but in a vast aggregate, cement finds use on farms, in mining work, in building railroads and irrigation works, as a paving material, and in countless applications elsewhere.

The growth of the Portland cement industry in this country has been a matter of a few decades, for the American output in 1880 was only 42,000 barrels, compared with a present annual output close to 80,000,000 barrels. Its growth was at first hindered by mechanical difficulties in plants and machinery, most of which were overcome by American genius, and now we find plants in Japan, Australia, England, Germany and South Africa, using types of kilns and other machinery originally invented or perfected in the United States.

As early difficulties were overcome, attempts were made to extend the manufacture to new localities, and in doing this it was found that knowledge as to the geologic relations of the proposed sites, and as to the limestones and shales that were available at different points was of the greatest possible assistance to the concerns wishing to build plants in new and untried localities. In placing such information at the disposal of the manufacturers the United States geological survey played an important part and a long series of its publications are devoted to various matters of interest to the industry.

The demand for the report known as Bulletin 43 was great and for a number of years it has been out of print. It was decided to issue an entirely revised edition of the work. The new edition entitled "Portland Cement Materials and Industry in the United States," has just appeared as Bulletin 522. It contains in some 400 pages of text, detailed descriptions of the limestones, marls, clays, shales, and other cement materials of each of the states, and so far as the importance of the district justifies it, colored geologic maps, mostly on a uniform base, are included, so as to show the distribution of these raw materials. In addition, the new bulletin includes a summary of the factors that influence the selection of various raw materials, notes as to processes of cement manufacture, and details as to the history of the cement industry since it began in the United States. In its revised form the bulletin, will, it is hoped, be of the same service to the American cement industry of the present day that the earlier issue was to the industry of 1905.

The United States exports very little cement, the quantity annually shipped ranging usually from 1 to 3 per cent of the domestic production. It is probable that in the future much more serious attention will be given to the export trade, particularly by the eastern mills, for its development seems to be the simplest method of disposing of the surplus which now periodically weighs on the eastern cement market. Owing to the scarcity in most parts of South and Central America and the West Indies of fuel supplies, necessary to the manufacture of cement, the development of local cement industries in those promising markets seems unlikely.

MEAT SUPPLY SHORT

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT ISSUES BULLETIN OF WARNING.

For First Time in History of Nation Imports of Animals Exceeded Exports in 1912.

Washington, June 4.—The department of agriculture has issued a bulletin warning the nation that the supply of meat in the United States is short and getting shorter every year. In the year 1912, for the first time in the history of this country, the imports of animals and animal products exceeded the exports. In 1907 the number of beef cattle in the United States was 51,566,000, while at the beginning of the present year it was only 36,020,000.

The same statement was made before Secretary Wilson went out of office, one of the reasons ascribed being the preference of the western ranchmen to grow crops instead of cattle. A year ago the average price of native steers on the Chicago market was $7.95, as against $6.50 in 1911. The price of hogs rose from $6.70 in 1911 to $7.55 in 1912; sheep from $3.95 to $4.55, and lambs from $5.90 to $7.10.

A committee of the department of agriculture is now at work on a plan of bringing together the administrations of the pure food law and the meat inspection law.

WEST BROOKLYN NEWS

West Brooklyn 1 Compton 12.

It was a sad affair from a local standpoint. We refer to the ball game Friday between West Brooklyn and Compton and which was won by the lop sided side score of 12 to 1. The first few innings of the game were well played but after a couple of flies had been dropped by the local right fielder and a couple of other errors followed in quick succession, the home boys went up in the air and it was easy for Compton to score thereafter. It seemed that none of the players could catch a ball nor field one after the mess was started and the batting fest did not end until Risley for Compton had knocked a home run clear over the west side fence. It was a terrible smash but there was much doubt expressed about it. Some say it was a foul. The only hit made by the locals was a single by Pitcher Long about the sixth inning. Every thing else they hit was an easy chance for the infield or went direct at some out fielder. The credit for the pitching feat belongs to Harrison Boemer and the kid was there every inning. Pitcher Long's record is not a bad one when it is summed up but the errors behind him are what made the game so awful and made his work look bad. He would have earned a close score at the very least had his support been what it should. It is hoped that the teams will meet again this season and that the luck will change or at any rate, give the locals a better fielding average.

Graduation

The graduation exercises of the West Brooklyn high school and the rural schools of this vicinity were held at the opera house Thursday evening. A large crowd was present, with standing room only. Each number on the program was well given. The March was played by Sylvia Henry as the speakers took their places on the beautifully decorated stage. A California garden had nothing on the appearance of the decorations for the class of 1913 and they were magnificent. The walls bore banners of West Brooklyn which fact alone showed the spirit of energy and boosting for which the little town is noted—the banners being arranged in a most artistic manner.

The Salutatory and Oration "Our Country," was the first number on the program and was delivered in an excellent way by Miss Stela Gehant of the Nelles school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Gehant who reside north of town, and the success of her speech was evidenced by the pride glowing in the countenances of her parents and friends. Miss Kathryn Long her teacher was also proud of her pupil. Miss Nellye A. Long followed with a piano solo which pleased very much. Clarence R. White, eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. E. C. White filled the next number, an oration on "Thomas A. Edison." A rather difficult subject but he handled it finely. His delivery and wording stamped him as a fit personage to be turned from the high school with honors. He told of the great life and works in our day and his subject matter was original as well as showing deep thought.

Barr's orchestra gave a fine selection just before the next oration by Miss Zita Meyer, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Meyer. Miss Meyer's subject was "Every Man the Architect of His Own Fortune" and she acquitted herself well. No one hearing her oration could help but appreciate her excellent work. This was followed by a vocal solo by Miss Mary Durr and met with such approval that she responded to the encore. After she had finished Atty. Harry Edwards took the floor and we cannot begin to do his address justice in comment. It was masterful, full of meaning and his words were well chosen. It was one of the best addresses ever given at West He did not blantly tell of the neglect of some and the narrow mindedness of others in relation to school work, his subject being "The Relation of School Life to the Later Life," but did illustrate his views in such a way as to gain the admiration of all present. In fact his address was sweet to hear and much to be appreciated. Next the Oration valedictory by Arthur J. Oester was splendid. He took for his topic "The Progress of Agriculture in America." He explained and illustrated his subject well. He kept the good work of his class mates before him and proved a fitting valedictorian.

He was followed by Superintendent L. W. Miller who accompanied the presentation of the diplomas with an appropriate toast. Together with these he expressed himself as well pleased with the work of the local graduates from the high school in the name of the board of education of West Brooklyn and also extended praise to Miss Stella Gehant for her graceful work in keeping up the high standard of the graduates of the rural schools of Lee county. He was particularly interested in her work on this account and commended her for her part in it. At the conclusion of his remarks Barr's orchestra closed the program with a selection.

As a personal matter of farewell, before taking his leave Prof. J. L. Dolan delivered a few well chosen remarks and said his work in our midst had been a pleasure to him, for the past two years and complimented the parents for their assistance and co-operation with him. He leaves West Brooklyn with the good will of every pupil and their parents as well and it is with regret that we see him leave. He will be a welcome visitor here at any time. Our best wishes are extended to him and the graduating class of 1913, for a most successful future filled with the fruits of prosperity.

HITCHCOCK HITS BACK

Declares Burleson's Attack is "Inaccurate."

Says Postal Service Was Never Conducted More Efficiently Than During Taft's Administration.

Silver City, N. M., June 4.—Citing the establishment of the postal savings banks and the parcel post as evidences of the success of his administration, former Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock labelled the attack of Postmaster General Burleson "as inaccurate as it was gratuitous." Never, he said, was the postal service conducted more efficiently or mail handled with greater precision than in the closing years of the Taft administration.

"A committee composed in the main of newly appointed assistants, having less than three months experience in post office business, attempts to discredit the financial showing made by the postal service under President Taft's administration," he said. "After reporting alleged discrepancies that are insignificant when compared with the great sums known to have been saved by their predecessors, this committee of novitiates proceeds in its published statement to enlighten the American people as to the character of the postal service they have been receiving."

During his administration, according to the former head of the postal service, 5,000 new post offices were established, free delivery was given to 300 additional cities and rural routes aggregating 75,000 miles were inaugurated.

"Notwithstanding these great extensions of service and the heavy increase in expenditures they required, the post office department was placed on a self-sustaining basis, and that was its condition when, on the fourth of March, it passed into the hands of newly appointed officers."

A panic followed the collision and half a dozen women fainted. One carried a baby in her arms and it was with difficulty that the fear-maddened passengers were prevented from trampling mother and babe.

The cars were running in opposite directions. Both cars were splintered for part of their length.

That there shall be constructed in the City of Dixon in the line of the sewer described in Section One of this ordinance one lamphole of the kind described in the specifications hereinafter set forth and having an internal diameter of twelve (12) inches and located fifty (50) feet north of Tenth Street.

Such manholes and lamphole shall be connected with and be part of and in all respects be so constructed as to conform to all requirements herein relating to the grade of the sewers provided in Section One (1) of this ordinance.

Sewer Pipe.

That all the vitrified tile pipe and specials used in the construction of this improvement shall be of the best grade, salt glazed, vitrified clay sewer pipe of hub and spigot pattern. Said pipe must be sound and well burned, with a clear ring, free from cracks, blisters or any other defects or imperfections making it unfit for use.

Each hub shall be of such depth and size as to receive to its full depth the spigot end of the next following pipe or special without any chipping, and to allow the making of a good mortar joint, and the use of a gasket. All said pipes must be of standard thickness.

Brick.

That for brick work, none but the best quality of sound, hard burnt, perfect-shaped sewer bricks, presenting a regular and smooth surface, shall be used.

Cement.

That the cement used shall be newly manufactured portland cement of the best quality and of a brand approved by the Board of Local Improvements. Cement not satisfactory shall at once be removed from the job.

Sand.

Sand shall be clean, sharp, and free from loam, clay or vegetable matter. Shall not be so fine but that each grain on the surface of a pile can be readily noted by the naked eye, and must be of a quality satisfactory to the Board of Local Improvements.

Mortar.

All mortar used in making pipe joints shall be composed of one part by bulk of cement and one part of sand. Sand and cement are to be thoroughly mixed together in a dry state and in small quantities, and when ready for use the mixture shall be tempered with sufficient water to give it proper consistency.

Mortar used for brick work shall be mixed in the proportion of one part by bulk of cement by two parts of sand.

Mortar which has begun to set before being used must be thrown away. Retempering of the mortar will not be allowed.

Packing.

Packing may consist of flax, jute, oakum or hemp, clean and with long fibres, loosely twisted into strands.

Concrete.

Any concrete used shall be a one-to-four mixture of cement with sand and gravel, thoroughly mixed, both dry and wet, and settled into place by tamping until water appears on the surface.

Manhole Construction.

Manholes are to be circular in cross-section. The walls are to have a thickness of eight inches, and be built of sewer brick of best quality, laid in cement mortar. The top of the manhole, for the upper three courses is to be two feet in diameter, the walls having been drawn in by means of a succession of regular "header" courses. The invert through manholes may be built either of concrete or of half a tile laid to grade in a bed of concrete. The remaining floor of the manhole shall be built of well tamped concrete, smoothly finished and with a slight slope toward and into the sewer.

At spaces of eighteen inches from the floor of the manhole to within the said distance of the top, the manhole shall be provided with five-eighths inch round iron steps, bent "stirrup shaped," and built and bonded into the masonry.

The manhole shall be provided with a cast iron cover, with a tight lid, the said cover weighing not less than three hundred pounds, and being of the size and general pattern of those now in use in the said City of Dixon.

On the inside of the manhole the wall shall be given three coats of a thin Portland cement grout, without sand, applied with a brush, each coat being allowed to set before the next is applied.

Lamphole.

The lamphole herein provided for shall be constructed by connecting with the sewer pipe of the main a similar sewer pipe of like kind and quality by means of a "T" connection. Such sewer pipe shall be placed vertically and shall extend from the sewer to the grade of the street above. At the proper grade a "T" connection shall be placed to receive the pipe of the upper portion of the main sewer. The upper end of the said lamphole shall be stopped with a vitrified tile stopper of suitable size securely fastened with cement. All joints in such lamphole shall be connected in the same manner as the joints of other sewer pipe herein specified and the top of such lamphole shall be protected by a substantial cast iron ring and cover securely placed on a foundation of brick laid in cement mortar and extending not less than two feet below the grade of the street.

Excavations.

All trenches shall be vertical and made of sufficient width to be at least eight inches wider in the clear than the outside measure of the socket of the sewer pipe. Trenches must be made in open cut. Tunneling will be allowed only by special permission of the Board of Local Improvements. Trenches must when necessary be properly protected against caving or sliding, by braces and sheeting. Any sheeting left in permanently by order of the Board of Local Improvements (and only such) will be paid for, at the actual current cost of the lumber. When left in the trench, sheeting shall be cut off a foot below the surface of the street.

The excavations for manholes shall be wide enough so that a space of at least four inches will be clear between the outside wall and the excavation or protection thereof.

Excavated material shall be deposited in such a way as to be of the least obstruction possible to the public and to adjoining property owners.

A space of two feet wide along the side of the trench where the engineer's stakes are located shall be kept free from obstruction.

No material will be allowed to be piled within five feet of any fire hydrant.

The Laying of the Pipe.

All pipe shall be laid exactly to grade and line as provided in this ordinance.

Pipes must be sounded and inspected and in addition thereto the Board of Local Improvements may order that the same be fitted and matched before being lowered into the trench. No trimming of pipes or specials will be allowed, and all imperfect material will be rejected and must be immediately removed from the line of the sewer.

Pipe must not be laid except in the presence of the inspector, and any so laid may be ordered removed and relaid.

Before any pipe or special is to be put in place a small excavation must be made in the bottom of the previously graded trench, to receive the projecting portion of the hub or socket, so that the pipe may have a firm and uniform bearing for its entire length, upon said graded bottom. The joints between the individual pipes, or pipes and specials, shall in all cases be made water-tight, by completely filling out the annular space between the exterior of the spigot and the interior of the socket with cement mortar; and a neat and proper finish shall be given to the joint upon the face of the hub and socket.

It shall be at the discretion of the Board of Local Improvements to order the use of a narrow gasket which shall be properly pressed into each joint before the mortar is applied. But no extra compensation for the use of such gasket will be allowed, the same being included in the price paid per linear foot of sewer.

Blind Ends.

The last socket of lateral branches, or any stub of un-built sewer at a manhole or elsewhere, shall be closed with a clay stopper and made water-tight with cement mortar. A strip of board two or three inches wide shall be stood in trench at the curb end of each lateral, extending to the surface of the ground.

The said curb ends of each lateral must not be covered until the exact position thereof has been measured and recorded by the engineer.

Wiping Sewer.

All pipe as soon as laid is to be cleaned by the use of a sand bag or other suitable appliance.

Protection of Sewer While Laying.

Before leaving the work during a storm, or for the night, or for any other reason, care must be taken that the unfinished end of the sewer or lateral is securely closed with tight-fitting plug. Any material that may find entrance into the sewer through an open end or an unplugged branch is to be removed at the contractor's expense. The cost of such plugs and the labor connected therewith is to be merged in the regular prices bid for the work per linear foot.

Storm Water Inlets.

Storm water inlets, of ten inch vitrified tile, laid below the top of the curb at the gutter end, and not less than four feet in the ground at the manhole end, and trapped with a running trap next to the manhole, shall be constructed from the manholes in the various street intersections by means of suitable specials.

Concrete Inlet Bulk-Heads.

Neatly finished concrete bulk-heads shall be built in the gutter, at the inlet openings, to embed the upper end of the tile used in carrying storm water to the sewer. Unless otherwise ordered, these shall be three feet in width across the gutter, two feet in depth, built to the height of the curb, and nine inches in thickness.

Test.

When sewer is completed the interior floor thereof shall be exactly to grade and the line given by the engineer. Sewer construction will not be accepted by the City of Dixon unless (wherever the sewer is built in a straight line) a light applied at the manhole or lamphole can be clearly and plainly seen through the sewer from the next manhole.

Back-Filling.

The back-filling of the trenches shall be done with shovels and the refilled earth shall be compacted thoroughly. Unless otherwise expressly permitted, this shall be done by tamping, and the layers shall not exceed six inches between tappings.

Restoring Pavement.

If opening the street for this improvement necessitates the removal from the street of a coat of macadam, this material shall be kept separate from the excavated earth, and after the construction of the sewer and the proper refilling of the trench with earth, the said macadam material shall be placed thereon and tamped into conformity with the remaining surface of the street.

In the month of April following the completion of the sewer and at any prior time it may become necessary, the Contractor shall again go over the line of the sewer and laterals and wherever any settlement has occurred, shall again fill the trenches, tamping such filling until thoroughly compacted and again restoring the street surface to its original condition.

Equipment.

For this improvement the contractor shall furnish all necessary machinery, all materials, shall pump, ball or otherwise remove any water found or accumulating in the trenches and shall perform all the work necessary to keep them clear of water while the foundation and the brick work are being constructed or the sewer laid.

Use of Sewer.

Water shall not be allowed to run through the sewer until the cement is satisfactorily hardened.

Condition of Street When Work Is Completed.

When work is completed, all surplus materials, earth, rubbish, etc., shall be removed and the street surface repaired and left in as good condition in all respects as at the beginning of the work.

Measurement.

In measuring the length of sewer, no deductions will be made for manholes and lampholes.

Final Inspection.

Upon notification by the contractor of the completion of the work, the Board of Local Improvements, assisted by the engineer, will carefully inspect the sewer, its appurtenances, and any other work done by the contractor in connection therewith, and if it is found that the work does not comply with these specifications, it should be brought to the proper condition at the expense of the contractor. But if it be found, after uncovering the pipe or any other work, that no defects exist, or that the defect, if any, was not due to the fault of the contractor, then the expense of this examination shall be borne by the city.

That the work for which said tenders are invited is the construction of about 1375.6 cubic yards of excavation, about 74 cubic yards of rock excavation, about 1080 linear feet of 12" sewer pipe (laid), about 260 linear feet of 10" sewer pipe (laid), about 25 linear feet of 8" sewer pipe (laid), about 650 linear feet of 6" sewer pipe (laid); One (1) lamphole, complete with C. I. cover; Six (6) manholes, complete with C. I. covers and gutter inverts, and Six (6) cement headers at inlets as provided for in Local Improvement Ordinance No. 143, Series of 1913, of the City of Dixon, Illinois.

Each bid for this work must be accompanied by certified check or cash for an amount not less than ten per cent of the aggregate of such proposals. All certified checks must be drawn upon some responsible bank doing business in said City of Dixon and must be payable to the order of the President of the Board of Local Improvements in his official capacity. No bids will be considered unless accompanied by such certified check or cash.

Said cash or certified checks will be held by said Board of Local Improvements until all the bids have been canvassed and the contract has been awarded and signed. The return of said checks or cash to the successful bidder being conditioned upon his appearance within fifteen (15) days after having been notified of the award having been made to him or them, accompanied by his or their bondsmen and executing a contract, with said Board of Local Improvements for the completion of the work so awarded and giving a bond satisfactory to said Board of Local Improvements.

A bond of Two Thousand (2,000) Dollars will be required conditioned for the fulfillment of the contract in accordance with the ordinance and specifications and to the satisfaction of the said Board of Local Improvements. All proposals must be made on blanks which will be furnished bidders at said City Clerk's Office.

The payment for the work for which said tenders are invited is to be made in cash or bonds, payable when the contract is complete, and the work accepted by the Board of Local Improvements, bonds to draw interest at Five per centum. No bid will be considered unless the party making it shall furnish evidence satisfactory to said Board of Local Improvements of his experience and ability in this class of work and that he can control sufficient capital to enable him to successfully prosecute the same in case the contract shall be awarded to him.

Bidders will examine the ordinance, maps, plans, profiles, and specifications and also the locality in which said work is to be done and judge for themselves of all the circumstances and surrounding conditions affecting the cost and nature of the work.

Specifications may be seen at the Office of the City Clerk of the City of Dixon from and after this date.

The Board of Local Improvements reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated at Dixon, Illinois, May 31st, A. D. 1913.

DIXON CITIZENS GLADLY TESTIFY AND CONFIDENTLY RECOMMEND DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

It is testimony like the following that has placed Doan's Kidney Pills so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voices in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Dixon citizen:

John Salzman, 103 Artesian Ave., Dixon, Ill., says: "I have no reason to change my good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills which I publicly expressed some years ago. I had backache a great deal and pains across my loins. My kidneys did not act regularly and I felt miserable in every way. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Leake Bros. Co's. Drug Store and they did good work, relieving me. I keep them in the house and whenever I take them, they help me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LAMSON BROS and CO. N.Y.

Dixon, June 4 1913
Wheat: Firmness gave place to decline, closing 7-8 to 1 3-8c lower. Is thought fresh business was done with European buyers but such has not been made public. Selling induced by beautiful scenery often depresses prices at this season but judicious purchases on such forced declines are profitable.

Corn: Strength early on local buying induced holders with good profits to realize. Much corn from country, especially Iowa, and setback of 1c followed, final prices 1-8 to 1-4 lower than last night. No complaints in regard to crop are heard from any source and some further declines seem in order.

Oats: Strength in sympathy with corn early was followed by greater weakness with declines of 1-2 to 5-8 as result of day's trading. It is probable disappointment over movement will disappear before July as farmers generally do not carry over big reserves of oats whatever the attitude on corn. Nothing except character of the buying for the last few weeks appears as a real bull factor in the situation.

Provisions: Good run of hogs was well taken with decline of but 5c. Product, while easier early, firmed up and closes steady to a shade higher with the exception of Sept pork. Cash trade active at premiums over prices quoted for future delivery. On good declines there seems to be good reason to make moderate investment purchases.

Belfast, Ireland, June 4.—The government learned last week that the Orange clubs are expecting a large consignment of arms from Germany. One thousand rifles with bayonets arrived here on a steamer from Manchester in cases marked "Electrical fittings." Detectives promptly seized them.

Government officials say they are fully informed on the plans of the Orange clubs to resist home rule.

St. Louis, June 4.—Mrs. Hallie B. Martin, thirty-two years old, shot and killed her husband, Charles L. Martin, thirty-three, an automobile salesman, in their home, after a quarrel in which she accused him of being attentive to another woman.

Mrs. Martin told the police that she fired at her husband when he was advancing on her with a carving knife and threatening to "cut her heart out." Her bullet struck Martin in the heart and he fell dead at her feet.

HUNDREDS KILLED IN MEXICAN FIGHT

Matamoras, Mex., Is Surrendered
by Federal Troops After Bloody Battle.

FEDERAL LEADER AMONG DEAD

Federal Stronghold Falls, Following Desperate Conflict in Which Hundreds Are Slain—Electric Fence Kills Scores.

Brownsville, Tex., June 4.—Hundreds are believed to have been killed in a battle that raged for 12 hours between the rebels under Gen. Lucio Blanco and the federal forces in Matamoras, Mex., the northern stronghold of the federal government, and resulted, after desperate fighting, in the capture of the city by the rebels.

Much of the fighting was hand to hand. Maj. Estaban Ramos, one of Mexico's noted soldiers, made a heroic defense against terrible odds. His officers capitulated only after their chief had been mortally wounded by a half dozen rebel bullets and lay at the point of death in a hospital in Brown-sville.

The dying general heard the shouts of the victors in the streets of the conquered town just before he passed away.

Rebels Begin Attack.

The attack began at 10:30 in the morning, when the Constitutionalists under General Blanco advanced in sloping line. The federals had practically no chance to hold the city, and their resistance was called remarkable by American army officers who viewed the assault from this side of the river.

The rebels were in possession of complete plans of the fortifications. A federal deserter showed them where all the mines were laid and named the vulnerable points in the line of defense. Virtually the only defense the handful of federals had was a high barbed wire fence charged with electricity.

The rebels charged this three times, and each time were hurled back. Sixty of their number were electrocuted.
Finally they concentrated their assault upon the Matamoras light plant. Major Ramos dispatched Captain Velez, his most trusted aid, with two lieutenants and a picked band of 20 sharpshooters to defend the plant and save the wire fence.

Federals Are Outnumbered.

The federals made a gallant defense, but were outnumbered four to one and Captain Velez, the lieutenants and the squad of soldiers were killed to a man after they had retreated to the very doors of the electrification plant.

The plant fell and the last hope of the federals went with it. Blanco appealed to Major Ramos to surrender, but the old Mexican fighter scorned the offer and sent the envoys back and ordered a deploy to repulse the attack.

Slaughter Follows Victory.

Slaughter followed. Retreating from street to street the defenders slowly but surely were driven to bay. Scores of soldiers fled to the river and swam to the American shore, where they surrendered to the flag of the United States.

Not until the defending army had been so completely routed that it was impossible to marshal a squad of 20 fighting men at one place did a junior officer of Ramos' staff raise the white flag on his saber.

Bullets whizzed into Brownsville, where hundreds watched the fortune of the battle across the river. Out automobile was wrecked by a shell, but no one was seriously hurt.

BULGARIAN CABINET IS OUT

pected to reconstitute the cabinet.

istry will consist of a coalition representing all parties.
